

Slowing the Spread of COVID-19: Guidance for Livestock Competitions and Events May 8, 2020

The Tennessee Department of Agriculture knows that the COVID-19 pandemic is making it difficult to plan for livestock events. Show managers must make the best decision for each event with local, state, and federal regulations and health guidelines in mind. If a livestock show or competition is to take place, event organizers must do their part to protect the health of participants.

In accordance with Gov. Bill Lee's Executive Order 30, social and recreational gatherings of 10 people or more are prohibited, including but not limited to festivals, fairs, parades, youth and adult sporting events, and overnight summer youth camps through May 29.

The Tennessee State Veterinarian's office consulted with University of Tennessee Extension officials and considered Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) guidelines for community events to minimize risk of COVID-19 infection. Based on those discussions, the Tennessee Department of Agriculture makes the following recommendations for all livestock competitions and events scheduled after Executive Order 30 expires, provided there is no extension to the order or additional statewide restrictions enacted. Policy enforcement is the responsibility of show management.

Before the event

- Be aware of the COVID-19 situation in the community where the venue is located. It is not advisable to hold an event in an area with significant community transmission.
- Familiarize yourself with local, state, and federal guidelines to slow the spread of COVID-19. The community where the venue is located may have additional restrictions in place.
- Speak with the venue manager. Discuss expectations, including any new procedures for the facility and sanitization practices.
- Require pre-registration to eliminate in-person interaction on site.
- Develop flexible refund policies. Allow participants to stay home without penalty if they are sick, need to care for someone who is sick, or are at high risk for complications from COVID-19.
- Reduce the size and duration of the show to minimize time spent on site. Consider limiting the number of participants overall and in individual classes.
- If appropriate, consider hosting all or parts of the competition virtually via livestream or through submitted photos or video.
- Determine what you will do if you must postpone or cancel the event. Make clear to participants how they will be notified if last-minute changes occur.

During the event

- Any person showing any signs of illness should stay home. Consider the use of COVID-19 symptom screening questions and/or signage.
- Implement cleaning and disinfection practices according to CDC guidelines, with regular sanitization of high-touch surfaces at least every two hours.
- No matter if the event is indoors or outside, CDC recommends wearing cloth face coverings in settings where it is difficult to maintain at least 6 feet of distance between people. Note that children under age two should NOT wear cloth face coverings because of the danger of suffocation.
- Participants should not congregate. At least 6 feet of distance must be maintained between people, including in the prep areas, at the gate, and while in the show ring. Additional show staff may be needed in these areas to provide reminders and guidance to participants.
- Parking areas, campgrounds, tie areas, and stalls should be set up and managed so that at least 6 feet of distance can be maintained between family groups.
- Provide handwashing or sanitizing stations for participants throughout the venue.
- Require all attendees—including exhibitors, family members, and spectators—to sign in at arrival. Consider electronic or mobile sign-in options, disinfect shared pens, and maintain at least 6 feet of distance between those waiting to sign in.
- Spectators should be limited and if present, appropriate distancing maintained. It is advised to restrict access to bleachers or group seating areas. Consider providing a livestream of the competition online.
- Children who are not competing should stay home. Children who do attend must be accompanied by an adult at all times. Ensure that children comply with applicable guidelines for appropriate distancing and use of face coverings.
- Participants should leave the event venue as soon as they have finished showing.
- Group meals should be prohibited.
- Concession sales should follow the Tennessee Pledge guidelines for restaurants as applicable. Eliminate self-serve stations including beverage and/or condiment dispensers and restrict access to tables and group eating areas.
- Communicate and enforce new policies with exhibitors and the public. Make expectations clear to participants before the event and consider using signs and staff to provide reminders and guidance during the event.
