Mr. Brian Corwin

County: Rutherford

Representing: Central Region

Term: 2018-2020 Area: UT ANR/CED

Brian graduated in 1992 with a BS in Agricultural Engineering. In 1996, he received a MS in Agricultural Engineering and a minor in Environmental Engineering. He received both degrees from the University of Tennessee, Knoxville. While a student at UTK, he was member of the Tau Beta Pi National Engineering Honor Society, the Gamma Sigma Del-ta National Honor Society of Agriculture and was very active in the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity. After graduation, he began his career with Williamson County Government in Franklin, TN, where he continues to work as the Director of the Department of Sewage Disposal Management. He oversees the department that regulates all aspects of individual on-site subsurface sewage disposal systems (i.e., septic systems) within Williamson County to ensure the protection of public health and the environment. Brian is very active with the Tennessee Onsite Wastewater Association, serving on their Board of Directors since 1999 and holding numerous positions over the years including President, Treasurer, Secretary and miscellaneous other director positions. He is also a longstanding member of the National Onsite Wastewater Recycling Association (NOWRA) and the American Society of Agricultural and Biological Engineers (ASABE). Brian currently lives in Smyrna, TN with his wife Cindy and their pets. He has a stepson and granddaughter and enjoys spending his free time in the outdoors fishing, hunting and attending UT football games.

Mr. Andrew Dixon

County: Franklin

Representing: Central Region

Term: 2018-2020 Area: UT ANR/CED

Andrew Dixon's work is part farming, part entrepreneurship, and part research and development. Andrew grew up on his family farm in Franklin County, Tennessee as a 3rd generation row crop farmer and currently works alongside his grandfather, father and brother. In 2006, they diversified to include a corn maze and pumpkin patch operation, "Grandaddy's Farm", that Andrew co-owns and manages. The farm now includes food and retail sales in addition to fun times and farm produce. In 2017, he married a charming, level-headed young lady named Sara who works in her family funeral home business in Tullahoma. Together they attend First Baptist Church in Decherd where Andrew also serves as the audio and visual operator and technician. All in all, he's just a good ol' country boy who enjoys the simple things in life.

Mr. Blan Dougherty

County: Monroe

Representing: Eastern Region

Term: 2019-2021 Area: UT ANR/CED

Mr. Dougherty owns and operates a farm in the Mount Harmony community in McMinn County with his wife, Kathy. He was one of the top dairy herds in the state on the Dairy Herd Improvement program for many years. He was in the dairy business for over 28 years until a devastating tornado destroyed the dairy facilities two years ago. He made the decision to sell the cows and not rebuild, instead opting to get in the commercial hay production business. He produces hay on 110 acres of the farm and leases the remaining acreage for crops. He attended the University of Tennessee, Knoxville where completed a Bachelor of Science degree in Animal Sciences.

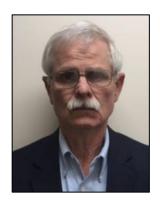

Dr. ReGina Etter

County: Davidson

Representing: Central Region

Term: 2018-2020 Area: TSU 4-H

Dr. ReGina A. Etter has served the students and teachers of Metro Nashville Public Schools for thirty plus years. As an advocate for teaching and learning, ReGina's passion is displayed through her innovative methods of presenting pedagogy to educators throughout the country. Working with numerous initiatives and varying roles for the district has afforded her opportunities to provide teachers with instructional practices that are practical, rigorous and content rich. ReGina's impact in the educational arena has been extended to NSF, NSTA, TSTA, TSIN, SEC-ME, NABSE, Vanderbilt, Tennessee State, Fisk, Trevecca, and Middle Tennesse State Universities. Currently, she serves on the Food Policy Council of Knoxville Tennessee that monitors and evaluates the performance of the food system. She is also on the board of the East Side Sunday Market of Knoxville, that empowers East Knoxville communities with fresh vegetables and nutritious foods. The TN NWIAA Chapter works with schools (The Austin East High School Youth Garden, and the Green Magnet Scouts Garden), urban food deserts, community garden projects, and outreach coordinators. We teach underserved citizens how to grow their own food and sell their produce to farmers' markets.

Ms. Patricia Woods

County: Montgomery

Representing: Western Region

Term: 2018-2020

Area: UT FCS

Patricia Woods has been a resident of Clarksville, Tennessee since 1992, settling there first after her spouse's retirement from the military. As a military spouse living in different parts of the world and country, she enjoyed the benefits of travel, experiencing different countries and cultures, and the many opportunities to serve as a volunteer.

Woods retired in 2011 from the City of Clarksville Gas & Water Department after fifteen years of service as the Payroll Administrator. Her goal after retirement was to continue volunteer work in her community and to spend more time with her family and friends. She was also determined to open her own business, fulfilling her dream of teaching etiquette and leadership to children and adults. Her business "Eyes Up, Forks Down" started three years ago. She is also a member of both the National and the Tennessee Association for Family and Community Education. She is grateful for the many opportunities her new business and memberships have provided her.
